

ONE HUNDRED MINERS HURLED INTO ETERNITY

Careless Workman Believed to Have Been Responsible for Explosion in Mexican Mine

Crazed Women Hurl Themselves Into the Shaft ---All the Bodies Except One Missing Taken From Drakesboro Mine.

San Antonio, Texas, February 3.—Dispatches today from Eagle Pass tell of a terrific explosion which occurred in the Palau mine, of the S. Coalfield Coal Company at Esperanza, Mexico late yesterday afternoon.

Scores of miners, principally Mexicans and Japs, have been killed.

Fifty-two bodies have been recovered up until Thursday noon.

Fifteen seriously, several fatally, injured miners, have been rescued.

The Mexican authorities report that an examination of the company's books show that at least 125 men were at work in the mine when the explosion occurred.

A late dispatch says that not more than a score of that number escaped instant death.

The blundering of a miner is said to have caused the horror. He struck a match near an abandoned chamber, which contained gas, and instantly the blast followed.

The property damage is extensive. Great collapses have occurred.

The Palau mine was considered one of the best equipped of Mexican mines, with modern provisions for the safety of the men.

Las Esperanzas is exclusively a coal mining district.

One dispatch says that two women, crazed by grief, threw themselves down a shaft at the same time screaming the names of their imperiled husbands.

The explosion occurred in the No. 3 shaft, in which the majority of the miners were at work.

The blast was of such force that walls separating No. 3 from other shafts were wrecked and many of the victims were buried under tons of the debris.

While one report has it that the explosion was caused by the flame of a cigarette which was being smoked contrary to rules of the mine by a miner, the mine owners accepted the statement of one of the injured men, who was rescued that the laborer struck a match preparatory to relighting his lamp.

It was about 5 o'clock when men at work above ground were startled by an explosion and almost instantly a vast cloud of smoke and dust issued from the mouth of the shaft.

When the onlookers realized the meaning of the disaster assistance was immediately forthcoming and as soon as the air in the shaft could be purified sufficiently to permit rescuers to descend many volunteers were ready to risk their lives in an endeavor to succor their stricken brothers below.

A cage was immediately sent down followed later by another, and then another, all loaded to their utmost capacity with miners bent on rescuing their comrades.

When the cages descended and the men made an examination of the first and second levels, everything was found intact, and the men working in these levels were safe. They were brought to the top as rapidly as the cages could be loaded.

The rescue party descended to the third level and as soon as the air could be sufficiently cleared, entered the various shafts and began a search for the dead.

A terrible sight met the rescuers' eyes. Scattered about in various positions in the workings, were the bodies of men suffocated, their faces indicating the bitter fight they had waged to reach pure air and safety without the workings.

Most of the injured owe their escape to the fact that they were working at points in the third stage of the workings where they were protectively protected from the risk of foul air.

SIGN OF DEATH IS CONSPICUOUS

Drakesboro, Ky., Feb. 3.—With crepe hanging on every other door along the two straggling streets of the little mining town of Drakesboro, and muffled funeral corteges headed by all sorts of improvised hearse, moving towards the cemetery, Wednesday was largely given over to observance of death's work in the Elk Valley coal mine.

There was no attempt at holding divine services over the mangled bodies. Rescuing parties were going up and down in the mine all day, but no further finds were made in the afternoon, the last body being brought up at 12:30 p. m. This brought the count of dead to 34, with one man, Foreman Pete Kelley, missing. Two of the injured are expected to die.

ROCK BLOCKS THE PASSAGE

Cherry, Ill., Feb. 2.—Owing to an extensive fall of a rock that blocked the main shaft and the escape shaft the work of clearing the St. Paul mine and recovering the bodies of the men killed in last November's fire, went forward slowly today. The passageway between these shafts must be cleared before anything else can be done. Owing to this unexpected delay a corpse seen near the airshaft early today was not taken from the mine.

FIRE DESTROYS TWO STEAMERS

Evansville, Ind., Feb. 3.—The large passenger and mail steamer Jewell and a large wharf boat lying in the harbor in Green river near the Ohio, in shelter from recent ice jams, burned last night, according to information received today. The wharf boat was valued at $20,000 and the steamer at $50,000. The cause of the fire is unknown.

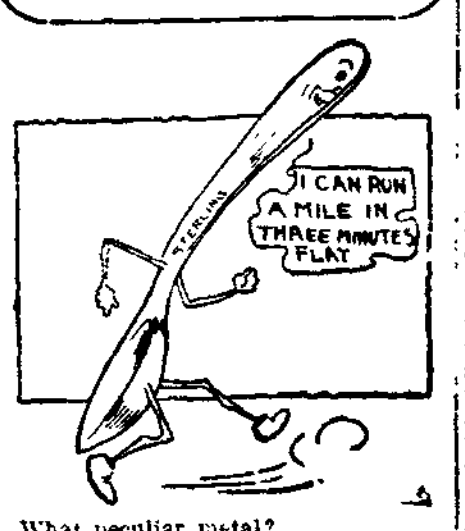

WANT MONEY BACK GIVEN THE CHURCH

The case of Alonzo Gibbs, administrator of the estate of Tobias Gibbs, against the trustees of the Harmony Baptist church of Liberty township, is on trial before the court and jury in common pleas court today. The suit is brought to recover $300, which the decedent is alleged to have made a gift to the church a few months before he died. It is claimed that the decedent did not have sufficient mental capacity to make the gift and that he was unduly influenced by the church officers. It is denied by the defendants. The case will probably require the entire day. Attorney Moore of Uica, and Attorney Horner of this city, are representing the plaintiff, while Kibler & Montgomery are looking after the interests of the defendant.

INDEPENDENT OIL MEN PLANNING AN INVASION OF STANDARD STRONGHOLD

STANDARD OIL BUILDING, NEW YORK

New York, Feb. 3.—The announced intention of Thomas L. Higgen, president of the Independent Petroleum Marketers' Association of the United States, foe of the Standard Oil company, to compete for the wholesale oil and gasoline trade of Greater New York is notable for its boldness. New York is the nerve center of the great Rockefeller corporation. Some of its biggest refineries are situated near this city, its main offices are housed in its own building at 27 Broadway, and many of its leaders have their residences in and near New York. The active head of the big corporation is now John D. Archbold. The presidency of John D. Rockefeller is considered merely nominal, as he visits the company's offices only about once a year. Speaking of the new move, Mr. Higgen said: "While our policy may seem like pure aggression, it is really purely one of self preservation, the first law of man. The minute we stand still, so to speak, Mr. Rockefeller's cohorts proceed to smother us in, and only by branching out into new territory

COMMISSIONER DUNLAP WAS NOT IN FAVOR OF THE PROBE

Columbus, Feb. 3.—R. W. Dunlap, commissioner of dairies and foods, having passed the house Thursday afternoon by unanimous vote. The state will print the code and it will be available for general circulation in about a month. The codification took three years and cost nearly $40,000.

The session of the committee was secret. After it was over, Representative Day said the committee hadn't punished Dunlap, but had converted him. He said the probe was aimed at the farmers, but the members of the committee convinced him it was a good thing for the farmer. When Day was asked how he expected the people of the state to trust the committee if the committee did not trust the people enough to admit them to its sessions he said, "I don't know. I am really in favor of open sessions, and, by jingo, I'm going to stand for them."

Word reached the Senate probe committee today that Mark Slater, former public printer, whose drainage tract is under investigation, did not appear before the committee tomorrow, as he was ordered to do in a subpoena. Later, the committee learned he had left Michigan where he had been for some time and is now somewhere in West Virginia. His absence will not halt the inquiry.

A bill to be introduced today by Senator Crawford of Carroll county provides that shippers whose goods have been damaged in course of shipment may make claim for damages directly to the state railroad commission. The existence and validity of claims having been determined by the commission, the finding is filed with the clerk of the court in the county in which the claim is made. Within thirty days the railroads may cause the finding to be docketed as a civil action, but in case this is not done the finding of the commission becomes a judgment in favor of the claimant. Senator Crawford says shippers of all classes are behind the bill.

The statutes as compiled by a state commission, James E. Campbell, L. E. Lavlin and Horace Sibley, and approved by legislative committees, are now the letter of the law for Ohio. The senate bill No. 2, comprising the code

Secures Divorce From Wife, a Noted
Zanesville Singer and Former Society Woman.

Zanesville, Feb. 3.—Society circles here will be immensely surprised to learn that Dr. George T. Rankin of Akron, has been granted a divorce from his wife, who before her marriage was Miss Anna Allison Jones, one of Zanesville's greatest singers and one of the bright stars in Zanesville society for years.

The divorce, which was granted Monday, was given on the grounds of wilful desertion, and during the trial Dr. Rankin told of alleged jealous acts of Mrs. Rankin.

JOHN WAS NO PIKER

Easton, Pa., Feb. 3.—Charles F. Cunniff, the broker, accused of uttering non-sensical and untrue statements to the effect that he had made $1,000,000 in the stock market, was today found guilty of perjury and sentenced to five years.

CANNOT REACH AN AGREEMENT

Toledo, Feb. 3.—The joint conference of the oil operators and miners of the Central Competitive field, including the states of Ohio, Indiana, and Western Pennsylvania will meet late this afternoon. With the miners pitted to demand an increase of wages of ten cents per ton and insisting on working conditions which the operators say they cannot concede and the operators insisting either upon a reduction of wages or the equalization of mining conditions in the unorganized soft coal field, the opinion today is that it will be impossible to reach an agreement at this conference.

The operators say they do not want a strike and are willing to concede anything within reason.

CONGRESS WILL INVESTIGATE

Washington, Feb. 3.—The Lodge resolution to investigate the increased cost of living by a special committee of five senators, was today favorably reported to the senate by the finance committee. It was then referred to the committee on contingent expenses in order that the necessary funds may be provided.

ST. LOUIS GETS NEXT CONVENTION

Indianapolis, Feb. 3.—After a turbulent session resulting from one of the bitterest factional fights in the history of the organization the annual convention of the United Mine Workers of America adjourned at three o'clock this morning.

By a big vote St. Louis was chosen as the convention city for 1917. Indianapolis, Toledo and Rochester made strong bids for the meeting.

Some of the delegates were in favor of postponing the joint conference with the operators of Toledo for another day. But this scheme was defeated and the miners left this morning for Toledo.

The gripes against the officers of the Union have not been diminishing during this convention and will have to be aired again next year.

SIX OF CREW WERE DROWNED

Hamburg, Germany, Feb. 3.—The German steamer Suzanna collided with and sunk the Swedish steamer, Annia, today in the lower Elbe. Six of the Annia's crew were drowned.

WEBB STREET PROBE MADE BY EXAMINER

Residents of "Texas" Testify to the Closing of East Newark Thoroughfare

Health Officer Tells of Duties of Office---Con- tractor White Testifies Regarding Removal of Pipe From Eleventh Street Bridge.

The Webb street matter was next taken up and Mr. Heck said he wanted to find out whether it was a good or bad thing for the people, this closing of the street.

Mrs. Mary Swartz.

Mrs. Swartz testified she has lived in "Texas" for 10 years and was of the second family to move to that section. The property faces on Webb and Ohio streets. She said that when they want to come to the business section they have to go over Valandigham street to East street and then north on First. All the other streets are closed and when the water is high in the North creek they are practically hemmed in.

Mrs. Swartz said it was a great inconvenience to the residents and when the water is high, some times they are penned up for a week. The long trip for the fire department makes the fire protection poor. She said the growth of the city in that section was slow because people wouldn't move over there.

Mrs. Emma James.

She testified she lived in "Texas" a number of years. Mrs. James, like Mrs. Swartz, is a property owner there and her property is located on Ohio and Miller streets. Mrs. James told how far from town "Texas" was by the long walk they were compelled to take. She said if Webb street was opened it would be a short distance to the Main street car line.

Asked about the number of tracks the B. & O. has across there she said she didn't know, but there were a great many. The shops are in the same location they have been for a long time. In case of flood Valandigham street is flooded and the bridge was washed. She said no bridges have been washed away.

Peter Graff.

Mr. Graff has lived in Newark 35 years, he said, and for 40 years he has lived in "Texas". He said he owned three houses and one lot there, the properties being located on Webb and Summit streets. He was asked if the B. & O. owned any ground south of their tracks when the street was vacated in 1870, and said the shops were built in 1870. Asked how many tracks there were across Webb street, he said there were probably a dozen tracks there. Last summer he said he counted 15 tracks across there and it is impossible to cross the tracks. His testimony regarding getting to the business section of the city was the same as the other witnesses. In getting goods here last fall after the high water, the goods had to be transferred to within 40 feet of the bridge, hauled up with block and tackle, carried across the bridge and lowered with ropes on the far side. He said there were 500 people living in "Texas" and there were 83 houses. He said the B. & O. company sent a petition around among their men for the vacation of the street. The B. & O. got six signatures for the vacation of the street and Mr. Graff got 19 names of property owners on his counter petition, which he handed in to council. This petition protested against the closing of Webb street. When he handed in the petition he made a speech, he said. Said he talked to Dan L. Jones regarding the matter. Mr. Jones was president of council and assured Mr. Graff that council wouldn't close the street. Mr. Graff said he thought the closing of the street was detrimental to the city.

Charles C. Beckmann.

Mr. Beckmann, also a resident of "Texas" and a grocer there, said he had lived there 21 years. He said he had to take a round-about course in getting to Newark's business section. He said of Webb street was opened he could save a lot of time for he has a good many customers north of the tracks. Said the property left worth half of what it would be if Webb street was opened to the public. He said "Texas" has a present population of 500, and many of the residents had moved out. He said there were about 20 houses there now. One house was washed out and since then the approach to the present bridge have been washed out several times. He said he had to drive about two miles to get back to Webb street, north of the tracks. In case of a fire the fire department has to make a run of about a mile and a quarter. Webb street was opened, the East Newark company wouldn't have to make more than a quarter of a mile run.

David Irwin.

He testified he has lived in "Texas" about 30 years. His testimony was along the same line as the witnesses preceding him. Asked how often the Valandigham street bridge had been washed out, he said the first time was in 1882, next was in 1899, when the bridge was badly "washed" and had to be repaired. Ground was washed away from bridge in 1908 and 1909. Like the other witnesses he remembered the petition to council protesting against the closing of the street.

He said just before election last fall there was talk of opening the street again and they visited council. He said the B. & O. covered six streets and cut off all their approaches. He owns four lots, he said.

August Paul.

Another resident of "Texas" and a property owner, was called and he too is a property owner. He said he has lived there for 32 years. He signed the petition against the closing of the street. Said there was no watchman at the First street crossing of the B. & O. when asked this question. He worked in the B. & O. yards in 1891 and there were 12 tracks, now there are about 30 tracks. Said B. & O. bought land east of Webb street for yards in case they couldn't get Webb street, and they started to build tracks.

He said he sued the B. & O., R. R. Co. to try and get the crossing open. It went to the Common Pleas court and the court decided against him.

Henry August Beckmann.

Said he had lived in "Texas" 34 years. He owns three lots on Schuler street. He signed the protest petition against the closing of Webb street. He told about reaching the central part of town by the "long way". He declared that if Webb street was open his property would double in value.

W. A. Beckmann.

Proprietor of a grocery and meat market in "Texas" at Webb and Sumner streets. Said he had customers north of the railroad. He said it was a drive of one and one-half miles to make the entire circuit.

Some of his customers are located within 300 feet of his store, but since Webb street is closed it makes a drive of a mile and a quarter to get to them. When Webb street was closed, he thought there were 20 tracks across there and sometimes there was a watchman there. He too is a property owner and signed the petition protesting against the closing of the street. He said a clerk at the B. & O. handed him a petition to sign closing the street, and said if he refused it was as much as his job was worth. He said J. F. Irwin of the B. & O. was in council at this time. Men named Smith and Hains, B. & O. men, were also in council.

He said if Webb street was opened land value would increase.

James Swartz.

Another resident of "Texas" for 24 years, was called. He works at Brown's restaurant, East Main street, and said it was about one and one-fourth miles farther than if Webb street was opened. He said the B. & O. had built a high board fence around their property and he couldn't cross there.

All the witnesses were called to the stand by Attorney J. F. Lingafelter, who is representing them in the matter.

Mr. Edward Gilbert was called to the stand in the water works probe by Examiner Heck, and stated that he had taken office in April. He was asked about the council's action on the North Fourth street job directing the B. P. S. to do the work. Said he asked if work couldn't be done and give the unemployed work, and doesn't think an official action was taken by Council. He then said he may have made a motion that the work be done. He was then excused.

Dr. Knauss.

Dr. Knauss was then placed on the stand and testified about being appointed health officer, January 1, 1904. Said much of his time was taken up by the office. He told of the duties of his office as health officer. Said milk tests did not indicate impurities in milk but simply the butter fat. Said there was a city ordinance to this effect. He told of various milk tests that were made at various times. Told how milk was secured for the tests for impurities and cleanliness. This was gone into in detail by Dr. Knauss. In telling this he said there was but one case where water was found in milk. This case was prosecuted and the dealer was fined.

He was asked how often the milk tests were made and he replied this was (Continued on Page 2, col. 4.)

'Twas NEVER THUS BEFORE.

When Governor Harmon first began to uncover graft at the state house and proposed remedies, certain Republican papers were quick to say that he was "merely stirring up old charges that everybody had heard before" and "were exploded in the last campaign."

But when Governor Harmon officially directed the attorney general's attention to these charges, as he did in an official letter dated December 6, 1905, and the attorney general after several conferences with the governor found that the best course for him to pursue was to act on the governor's advice, that was different, quite different, and they changed their tune.

After the first graft suits were filed in court, concerted effort was made by a certain class of Republican papers to give all the credit to Attorney General Denman and, at the same time, to accuse Governor Harmon of "playing politics."

But no former attorney general ever thought of going to court with graft prosecutions, and Mr. Denman didn't either until Governor Harmon "put a bug in his ear," and put proofs in his hand at the same time.

Then came the Cameron suits and the attempt to give all the credit to Governor Herrick because he "courageously championed" the state depository law and "practically forced it on the statute books."

But no Republican governor ever directed the attorney general to go into court and recover for the state what state treasurers were supposed to have netted on the side of loaning state funds—which one Republican paper says "by comparison with which the salary was a pittance!" and that it may never be known how long the custom prevailed, but that evidently "it extended over a long period."

While the other fellows are quibbling about who shall have the credit Governor Harmon goes right on trying to get results because, to quote his own language "I'm not interested in where the credit belongs, I'm interested in getting results."

The governor will pardon the remark that the people of Ohio realize more than ever the kind of governor they must have to get results.

OPEN DOOR FOR CORPORATIONS

Prodigious Hole in Woods Public Utilities Bill.

PROTECTS THE INTERESTS

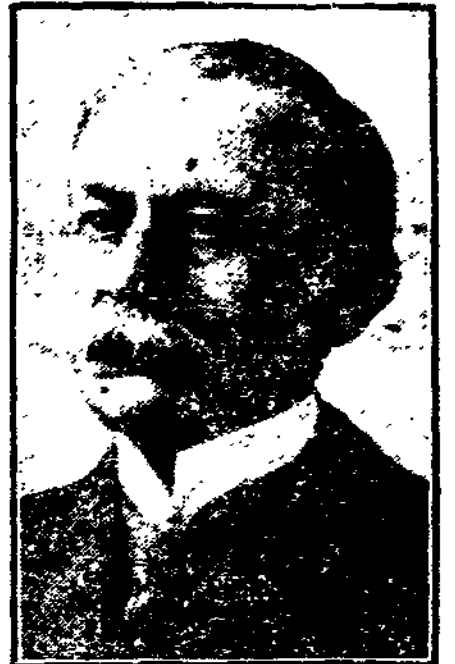

Precautions in the Measure to Prevent Corporations Taking Advantage of Each Other, but No Provision for Protection of the Public. Temerity of Licking County Representative—Legislative Review.

BY ORWELL C. RIDDLE.

Columbus, O., Feb. 2. There is a hole in the so-called Woods public utilities bill big enough to switch a freight car through without tearing off the roof or scraping the sides. You may call it a "saw-cut" or a "hooker" or whatever you like, but it is there just the same.

In one section it is provided that "no change shall hereafter be made by any public utility in any schedule of charges, including schedule of joint rates or in any classification, except upon 10 days' notice to the commission, and all such changes shall be plainly indicated upon existing schedules, or by filing new schedules in lieu thereof 10 days prior to the time the same are to take effect; provided that the commission, upon application of any public utility, may prescribe a less time within which a reduction may be made."

Under this section railroad companies could raise freight rates; express companies could raise express rates; telephone companies could raise long-distance tolls; gas companies, electric light companies, water companies and other public service corporations whose rates are not fixed by franchise or which may be charging less than the maximum rate provided by franchise, can arbitrarily increase rates simply by giving the commission 10 days' notice and without the commission's consent. You will notice that the commission's consent is required where a public utility corporation desires for any purpose to reduce rates quickly within 10 days, such as in a cut-rate war, or to meet or to underbid a competitor, but no such consent is required for an advance in rates.

This is the same joker in the interstate commerce law which render it impossible for the interstate commerce commission to prevent an increase of rates.

Another section of the Woods bill, which is said to have been demanded of this legislature by President Taft, copies of which are reported to have been in possession of Brother Charles P. Taft and George H. Cox more than a week before it was introduced in the house, requires that when special rates are to be granted "all such rates or charges shall be under the supervision and regulation of the commission and shall be approved by the commission before taking effect." This extension rates for passenger service, or any reduction in shipping rates, or any reduction in rates charged by other public service corporations is all first to be approved by the commission before taking effect. This is to protect corporations against each other.

Great care is taken to prevent corporations taking advantage of each other with the utilities commission to safeguard reduction in rates, but the door is left wide open to take advantage of the public by increasing rates on the mere possibility of giving the commission 10 days' notice and without the commission's consent.

Isn't that so? It is a fair sample of the "constructive legislation" the Republican majority of the legislature has been talking so much about putting through this session. And orders have come from the White House that if MUST be passed, Charles P. Taft and George H. Cox and the "interests" know why they want it.

Representative Howard of Licking county himself a lawyer and as used to the law's technicalities as the Bible of old was used to war's alarms, is tempting either the fates or fortune. Thomas Hood is authority for the information that a cannon ball cut off Ben's legs, so he had down his arms. In like manner Mr. Howard has seen some learned judge swing the sword of justice with such dexterity as to split from end to end a statutory hair that was long enough to span a middle bow.

So Mr. Howard passed up to the clerk's desk a bill (H. B. No. 50) to provide that in civil actions taken to higher courts on error there shall be no reversal of judgment on technical errors where justice substantially was done between the parties.

Of course it is a good bill, which makes it extremely doubtful that it will pass. He tried it last year without avail.

But if his bill is permitted to pass, Mr. Howard hasn't got enough hairs left in his head nor will there be enough in the recorded statutes for the courts to split before it is finally decided what is substantial justice and what is a technical error.

Representative Schott of Coshocton county is a friend of the man who is a friend of the horse. His two bills to compel honest horse trading and to punish those who overwork horses furnish documentary proof of that fact.

There are a lot of horse dealers in Coshocton county in spite of the inroads being made on faithful old Dobbin by automobiles. And neighbors, now and then, trade horses up that way as they do in all parts of Ohio.

The bill (H. B. No. 20) to punish fraud and misrepresentation in the sale or exchange of diseased horses, is aimed at the practice of "doping" a defective horse to make him show up well till after the deal is made. For some men will do such things, especially in a horse trade. They are like the two old deacons who were such expert horse traders that when they traded with each other both got cheated. Mr. Schott's bill would give both of them a chance to get even. It does not apply to outward blemishes that can be detected by the naked eye.

Mr. Schott's other bill (H. B. No. 75) adds overwork to the list of offenses for cruelty to animals, and also reduces the penalty from $5 to $2 for first offenses. This bill was introduced at the request of the humane society of Coshocton. The reduction of fine is proposed in a humane regard for the families of those who ordinarily offend in such cases.

Before this session began Attorney General Denman left it to be known that he desired to have the Valentine anti-trust law amended in several particulars to "strengthen" it. That was just before he got busy with the graft investigations Governor Harmon laid on his official door-step.

Somebody with a suspicious turn of mind countered on the proposition by pointing out that the law was strong enough just as it is for Judge Wacheneimer to put the Toledo ice trust magnates in jail.

Senator Young of Darke county is of the same opinion and proposes that if there is any strengthening to be done to the Valentine law it should be in the direction of putting violators of anti-trust laws in the penitentiary. That is the kernel of his bill to strengthen the penalty provisions of the Valentine law by providing a penitentiary sentence of from one to ten years, instead of a jail sentence, and a fine in addition of from $50 to $5,000.

Remembering how the ice trust magnates of Toledo squirmed over going to jail, it is safe to assume that there are those who will say at once that Senator Young's bill would make the Valentine law too "strong."

Opposition to a central board to manage all state institutions is already under way on the Republican side.

It cropped out when Senator Mather of Akron, Republican floor leader, took the floor and opposed Senator Aldorf's request that his bill be referred to a special committee consisting of the chairman of the senate's five standing committees on state-beneficial institutions. By a strict party vote, the Republican majority forced the bill into the hands of the judiciary committee, of which Senator Patterson of Ashland is chairman, where it is to be ripped apart, cut into pieces and made into a crazy-quilt blanket to smother the whole subject before the bill comes back before the senate.

Lieutenant Governor Treadway's scheme to abolish present boards and substitute three boards is not new. It was advanced a month ago and was shown up at a time as an impractical proposition. The classification theory defeated itself when analyzed to a logical conclusion, by running back to the starting point—a separate board for each institution—like a snake trying to swallow its tail and choking on his own head.

The Treadway proposition is brought forth, of course, to foil a reform advised by Governor Harmon in his message, regarding the effort to show that the plan to consolidate corporations of state institutions in one board.

In the annual report of the state medical board, Dr. A. Ravogli, urges the necessity of legislation that will give the board power to deal more vigorously with the charlatans who are deceiving and misleading the afflicted poor. It also has to be given more power to revoke licenses of doctors who are found guilty of unprofessional conduct.

TWO NEW STARS IN THE FLAG.

Statehood For Arizona and New Mexico.

BILL WILL PROBABLY PASS.

Favored by President and Congress Leaders—The Last of the Territories in United States Proper—Will Make Forty-eight States to Participate in Election of 1912.

Washington, Feb. 3.—The statehood bill for the separate admission of Arizona and New Mexico has gone to the senate and is practically assured of passage. It has the approval of the president and has been agreed to in a general way by the leaders of the two houses. It provides in the usual way for the election of delegates to a constitutional convention in each of the territories and the submission of the constitution adopted by these conventions first to the president and congress and afterward to the voters of the territories. If the measure goes through at this session the two new states will probably be admitted in time to participate in the presidential election of 1912. With Arizona and New Mexico in the Union all the territory in the United States proper will have been carved into states. There will then be forty-eight stars in the flag, and no new ones can be added unless some of the present states are divided or some of the outlying territory—Alaska, Porto Rico, Hawaii or the Philippines—is made into states. Either contingency is remote. For all practical purposes it is safe to say that Arizona and New Mexico will be the last of the American states. The only unadmitted territory in our own proper boundaries will then be the District of Columbia, which must ever remain politically a No Man's Land.

Presidential Bills.

The movement to give Porto Ricans the same citizenship rights as those enjoyed by the people of Hawaii at last seems in a fair way to succeed. This feature, with other provisions reforming the government of the island, is incorporated in a bill prepared under the direction of President Taft, which he will send in with a special message on the subject. What amounts to introduction of bills by the president was never resorted to so much as under this administration and has occasioned not a little criticism. Members of congress say that it is presidential interference with their prerogatives. As a matter of fact, however, the bills are only prepared by the administration to be used if desired. Their actual introduction must be made by some representative or senator. Inasmuch as members have long introduced measures prepared for them on the outside, the objection seems rather technical. No member is compelled to father the president's bills if he does not see fit.

House Rules Must Wait.

Another objection to presidential interference comes from the insurgent camp. The story goes that Mr. Taft called the Ohio delegation before him and practically sidetracked the Fowler resolution which provided for removing the speaker from the rules committee and electing five additional members by the house. The president insisted that his policies be carried out first, after which he had no objection if resolutions concerning the rules were taken up. Considering the number of the president's recommendations and the fight that is certain to be made on some of them, it is probable that by the time all these are out of the way, if that time ever comes, it will then be too late to do anything with rules or anything else during this session or even during this congress.

Congressmen in Alaska Muddle.

One of the new features of the Glavis testimony before the Ballinger investigating committee brought in the names of Representatives McLachlan of California and Kinkaid of Nebraska. It appears that after Ballinger left the land office he became attorney for Kinkaid in an Alaskan coal claim. In response to a question Glavis said there was nothing improper in this unless there had been some previous agreement. The writer remembers Kinkaid very well when he was a district judge. He represents the sand hill district of Nebraska—the "big Sixth"—covering most of the western half of the state. He belongs to the insurgent group, but I believe did not "go through" on the conference report. He is now serving his fourth term in the house. In one of the magazine stories Senator Heyburn was also brought into the affair. Glavis made it plain that he is even more distrustful of Land Commissioner Bennett than of Secretary Ballinger. He also confirmed the impression that lack of the Cunningham group stand the figures of the Guggenheims.

Alaska Coal Lands of Immense Value. In connection with these Cunningham claims comes the offer of J. E. Bellaine of Seattle for a lease of 5,000 acres of Alaska coal land. Mr. Bellaine believes that his proposition would bring into the coffers of the American government at least $8,000,000. For a mere rental this is a staggering sum and gives some idea of the enormous value of these Alaska coal lands around which the Ballinger-Mitchell controversy is waxing.

Give Your Boy Spending Money

Of course you give your boy some spending money, because such a course is not only reasonable, but wise. Wouldn't it be also a good idea to give him some savings money?

The boy who gets only spending money, be it little or much, is far more likely to develop into a spendthrift, and then in the end you may feel that you are partly to blame for such a result. Why not give him a Savings Book, with a small sum entered in it as a starter? And then take an interest in it; encourage him to add a little to it from time to time; figure the interest with him; note the interest additions when the bank enters them in his book; show him that you are concerned not merely about his little joys of today, but also and seriously about his future success and happiness.

Think this over. And then remember that we are always glad to open such Savings Accounts, for even as little as one dollar.

To Stop a Cough in a Hurry.

With this recipe you can make a pint of cough remedy at home in five minutes. A few doses usually conquer the most obstinate cough. Simple as it is, no better remedy can be had at any price.

Put 2 1/2 oz. of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a clean pint bottle, and fill up with Granulated Sugar Syrup, made as follows: Take a pint of Granulated Sugar, add 1/2 pint of warm water and stir for two minutes. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours. The taste is very pleasant—children take it willingly. Splendid, too, for colds, chest pains, whooping cough, bronchitis, etc.

Granulated Sugar makes the best syrup. Pinex, as you probably know, is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway White Pine Extract. None of the weaker pine preparations will take its place. If your druggist hasn't the real Pinex, he can easily get it for you.

Strained honey can be used instead of the syrup, and makes a very fine honey and pine tar cough syrup.

BEST HAIR TONIC

All Over America, the News of the Marvelous Dandruff Cure of Parisian Sage Has Spread.

A few years ago there was introduced into America a cure for dandruff, falling hair, and all scalp diseases. News of the quick action of this wonderful invigorator spread rapidly.

And today without any sensational or untrue advertising, Parisian Sage is used extensively in almost every town in America. And what has produced this great demand? Simply this: Parisian Sage does just what we are telling the readers of the Advocate it will do.

We claim, and we back our claim with T. J. Evans' money back guarantee, that Parisian Sage is the most invigorating and rejuvenating hair tonic. It cures dandruff, stops falling hair and itching scalp; it makes the hair grow strong and vigorous, yet soft and lustrous. It is the only hair dressing that reaches the root bulb; of the hair and destroys the dandruff germ.

And to the women who are reading this simple statement of fact, we want to say that Parisian Sage works wonders with women's hair. It will turn dull, harsh and faded hair into beautiful, radiant and lustrous hair in a few days, and is the most pleasant and satisfying dressing any woman ever used.

Druggists everywhere and T. J. Evans sell Parisian Sage for 50 cents a large bottle.

MOTHER'S FRIEND
A LINIMENT FOR EXTERNAL USE.
Baby's coming will be a time of rejoicing, and not of apprehension and fear, if Mother's Friend is used by the expectant mother in preparation of the event. This is not a medicine to be taken internally, but a liniment to be applied to the body, to assist nature in the necessary physical changes of the system. Mother's Friend is composed of oils and medicines which prepare the muscles and tendons for the unusual strain, render the ligaments supple and elastic, aids in the expanding of the skin and flesh fibres, and strengthens all the membranes and tissues. It lessens the pain and danger at the crisis, and assures future health to the mother. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. Write for our free book, containing valuable information for expectant Mothers.

ANESTHETIC CAUSES DEATH OF MR. BRANNON

The death of Harry Brannon, an employee of the Heisey glass factory, occurred very suddenly and in rather a peculiar manner Thursday morning about 9 o'clock. Mr. Brannon suffered an injury to his elbow which has given him more or less trouble since. His physician, Dr. J. W. Alexander, was unable to determine the cause of the sore and called to his assistance Dr. W. S. Turner, who turned the X-ray on the injury Wednesday, but without satisfactory results. The young man was then told not to eat anything and to come to the office Thursday morning, when he would be given an anesthetic so that they might determine the exact cause of the injured elbow and treat it properly. In the presence of Mrs. Brannon about a half ounce of chloroform by the drop method was administered. Almost at once the man died quietly and in a few moments expired.

The doctor was horrified and astounded that such a thing could happen after all preparations had been taken, and then Mrs. Brannon told them of an accident which her husband suffered about twelve years ago that had effected his head in such a way that they had to give him morphine occasionally to alleviate the pain. It is now thought by the physicians that this was indirectly the cause of the man's death. The wife also told afterwards that her husband was a constant user of tobacco which may have aided in the result which followed.

An effort was made for fully half an hour to resuscitate him by every known method but without avail. The deceased leaves a wife, Mrs. Lecta Brannon, and two sons, one aged 12 and the other 5.

OBITUARY

ALBERT BISHOP. Albert Bishop, aged 42 years, a former molder at the Wehrle foundry, died at his home at 421 West Church street, at 11:45 o'clock Thursday morning of apoplexy, which illness dates from Wednesday morning, although he had been in poor health for four years, when he sustained a stroke of paralysis. The deceased has lived in Newark for the past 11 or 12 years. A wife, Mrs. Lucy Bishop, survives, with five children, Clara, Marie, Anna, Louise, Joseph and George, all of the home. A father, brothers and sisters and a host of friends.

The notice of the funeral arrangements will be given in Friday's paper.

JOHN D. SMITH. Granville, Feb. 3.—John D. Smith, one of Granville's most highly esteemed citizens, died at his home on Broadway Thursday morning at 1 o'clock, after an illness of some time with blood poisoning, aged 66 years. Some time ago he cut a corn on one of his toes and blood poisoning developed. Everything possible was done for his relief, but the poison rapidly spread and death finally ended his sufferings.

For a number of years the deceased followed farming and was considered one of the most up-to-date farmers in the county. Some years ago he retired from farming and has been living in Granville, where he was honored and respected by all who knew him. He originally came from Massachusetts, where he was born. He was twice married, his first wife having died some years ago. He is survived by his second wife, Mrs. Lucretia Smith, and two brothers, Fred and Samuel, of McKean township, and one sister, Mrs. Mary C. Siler, of Liberty township. Several nephews and nieces also survive.

The funeral services will be held at the late home of the deceased on Saturday morning at 11 o'clock, and will be under the auspices of the local lodge of Odd Fellows, of which he was a member. The burial will be made in the cemetery at Fredonia.

MISS FLORA ROACH. Mr. George Roach, who has been employed as a linotype operator in the Advocate composing room for some time, is certainly deserving of the sympathy of his friends in the great trouble and affliction he has had during the past few days. Just about a week ago Mr. Roach was called to Zanesville by the death of his brother, Walter, which occurred Tuesday, Jan. 25. Last Tuesday his father-in-law, Mr. H. S. Crisler, passed away at his home in Zanesville, and while in that city Thursday to attend the funeral he was notified that his sister, Miss Flora Roach, also of that city, had died at an early hour Thursday morning, after an illness of some time with tuberculosis. Mrs. Matson, a sister of Mrs. Roach, lives in Newark.

RUMOR SENDS DOWN STEEL

New York, Feb. 6.—A rumor that the department of justice is likely to investigate the United States Steel corporation was responsible for a drive on that stock in the market today with the result that the entire lot crumbled in sympathy and generalized conditions prevailed. The Harriman issue were almost as weak as the steel. Steel stock opened at 66 7/8 and fell to 70 1/4 by one o'clock, and blocks of 10,000 shares were freely offered.

Why the Buckeye State Building and Loan Company is the Safest and Best Place for You to Deposit Your Money.

2. No loans made to officers or directors. This rule was adopted in 1893, 12 years ago. All loans are made only to outsiders. If they have sufficient security, it is easy to say yes; if they have not, it is not hard to say no. This is not true when directors loan to themselves and to each other. Our assets over $3,500,000. NEWARK TO HAVE BASEBALL

Newark will be given her last opportunity to have baseball during the season of 1910 by Chas. Donaghy of Columbus, who is willing to put a team in this city providing the fans of the city are willing to take up part of the responsibility.

It will be remembered that when the team "blow up" in this city last season the town was in debt about $5000 and this indebtedness has never been paid off by the people. In brief Mr. Donaghy's plan is this: If twenty-five persons in the city in Newark can be secured for $50 each, and in this manner the debt can be paid out, he will take up the franchise and deposit $7500 in cash with the league guaranteeing that the season will be finished by the local team.

Mr. Donaghy telephoned the Advocate last night and explained the plan and stated that he had secured the services of a manager for every team. Newark know and respected for his ability to make a team and pick players. This manager has his weather eye open and has a nose on several players who will be class articles on the diamond, and if Newark has accepted Mr. Donaghy's offer these same players will be seen in Newark uniforms. These 250 tickets will be put up in a hat and other case with the owners name stamped thereon and will be good for admission both at the gate and for the grand stand at all games played on the local field during the coming season. The subscription will probably be of 140 games and the owners of the tickets can be assured of plenty of baseball.

If this chance is turned down, it is Newark's last opportunity. There is no chance of re-districting in central Ohio from the Ohio State for a year at least and possibly two. If the Ohio State league would back up and Newark would have a chance to land in the O. P. this past debt would have to be paid before.

Will Be Taken to Gallipoli.
Some two years ago Isaac Deana, who lives a short distance north of Hanover, and who at that time was aged about 16 years, was sent by Judge Brister to the Boys' Industrial Home at Lancaster for being bilious and a year ago he was released and sent home. Since that time he has become an epileptic and was recently a fitted suit by the Hanover judge, since which time he has been confined in the county jail, waiting to be taken to the hospital for epileptics at Gallipoli. Judge Brister has received a letter from Supt. Pritchard, of the institution, advising him that owing to the urgency of the case, he was at liberty to transfer Isaac Deana at once, although the institution is very much crowded.

Taken to Lancaster.
G. E. Van Niman, parole officer of the Boys' Industrial Home at Lancaster, arrived in the city Wednesday for the purpose of taking William E. Miller, the young man who was caught in the act of burglarizing the restaurant of Bob Dodd a few months ago, back to the institution for violation of his parole. Miller was sent to the Boys' Industrial School about two years ago, but was paroled about a year ago. Owing to the absence of Prosecutor P. B. Smythe, Mr. Van Niman had some difficulty in arranging matters, but finally secured an order from Common Pleas Judge

Secretary Farrell of the National Commission would grant us protection.

Chillicothe is anxious to get in the circuit and although the bridge has decided not to have baseball this year there are other clubs that can be secured to make up a circuit.

Mr. Donaghy is a promoter of ability. He is the responsible for Jack Johnson and his fight in Columbus and is a travel world he is quite well known for he promotes short trips to the United States and Cuba. He is known to Newark people as the man who planned and successfully carried out the trip given by the Advocate to several young women to the Jamestown exposition, Washington and New York in 1907.

While in Newark, he made many friends and among them he gives his word to do a thing as just as good as his bond. This he promises in taking over the Newark franchise in the Ohio State league. He will put up the money to guarantee the finishing of the season, and naturally desires to make money in his investment. He will put in a good team for he realizes that local fans will only patronize and boost for a winner—a first division aggregation, which will play baseball.

This is about the last chance that Newark will have to get in organized baseball this year, and if twenty fans will come across with the national expert as a guarantee. It is not required that the money be paid now. The fans are simply required to give their word that they will make up the deficit, and the money will be collected probably when the first game is played.

Mr. Donaghy will probably come to Newark to talk the proposition over, and in the meantime if any fan wants to help he is invited to send his name to the sporting editor of the Advocate.

Seward, ordering Sheriff Linke to release the young man. Mr. Van Niman left on one of the morning interurban cars with Miller for Columbus, from which point he will go to Lancaster over the Scioto Traction railway.
